

"RELATIVELY WEAK RESISTANCE" IS MADE BY ITALIANS AS THE ALLIED TROOPS ADVANCE, TAKE PRISONERS

Good Progress Made Through A Number of Towns —
Montgomery's Veterans Penetrate to Depth of 10 Miles After Establishing A Wide Bridgehead On Southern Italian Mainland.

By Pierre J. Huss
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Sept. 4.—British and Canadian troops, smashing through weak opposition, have captured the coastal towns of Reggio Di Calabria and San Giovanni on the southern Italian mainland and taken a large number of prisoners, an Allied communique announced
today.

Their advance is continuing, the communique said.

The text of the communique:
"British and Canadian troops who landed Friday morning in the area of Reggio Di Calabria encountered relatively weak opposition and good progress was made throughout the day. Reggio and San Giovanni were taken.

"Demolition by the enemy has been largely ineffective. The advance continues. A large number of prisoners have been taken."

News of the capture of Reggio and San Giovanni came approximately 29 hours after the original announcement of the historic Allied invasion of the European mainland.

(The German DNB news agency reported new large-scale Allied landings in Southern Italy between Cape Spartivento and Melitto, some 15 miles apart on the bottom of the Italian toe, about 18 miles southeast of Reggio.

(DNB declared the landings, sup-

THE WAR AT A GLANCE

By International News Service
New Allied landings on the southern tip of Italy were reported today by the German news agency, DNB, as the vanguard of the British Eighth Army pounded its way forward into the toe of the Italian boot.

DNB said the landings, supported by British naval forces, were made between Cape Spartivento and Mel-itto, some 15 miles apart. There was no immediate confirmation of this report in Allied quarters.

As the Berlin-bent British Eighth Army surged inland on its invasion drive through southern Italy, the question uppermost in the minds of many observers today was—and what of the American troops?

While rumor was rife concerning the Americans' probable whereabouts and their immediate plans, Swiss sources came forth with a report that Yank forces have landed in Sardinia northwest of liberated Sicily. There was no immediate confirmation of the report from any official United Nations source.

Nevertheless, while it was pure conjecture as to where the Americans will strike—for it is almost universally conceded that strike they soon will—it was apparent that their British comrades were making progress.

Units of Gen. Sir Bernard L.
Montgomery's British Eighth Army, comprising both United Kingdom and Canadian soldiers, already reportedly had penetrated some 10 miles inland from the wide bridgehead which they established little more than 24 hours ago.

The initial Italian continental invasion was supported by smashing blows by sea, air and artillery units. As surface fleet and coastal guns lobbed shells into the Calabrian defense positions, Allied bombers smashed Axis strong points from Calabria clear to the Brenner Pass.

The aerial attack continued today, and farther north Berlin again felt the weight of Allied bombs for the second time in less than a week.
Extent of the raids on the German capital was not immediately made known.

Legion Auxiliary Plans Officers' Installation

The American Legion Auxiliary, meeting in Bracken Post home last evening, planned for installation of recently elected officers in October.

Those to be installed are: President, Mrs. Leo Riley; 1st vice president, Mrs. Earl McEuen; 2nd vice president, Mrs. Thomas Livesey; treasurer, Mrs. Robert Downing;
chaplain, Mrs. Harold H. Detmer; historian, Mrs. Robert Clark, Jr.; sergeants-at-arms, Mrs. Walter Strouse and Mrs. VanFraassen.

Resignation of Mrs. Strouse as treasurer was received last evening, with Mrs. Downing being named as her successor.

Two packages were arranged to be sent to servicemen.
The presiding officer was Mrs.
Harry Chapin.

Here and There in Bucks County Towns

HULMEVILLE

Mrs. Norman Davis, who has been ill for several weeks, has been removed to Abington Hospital.
On Tuesday evening Mrs. Harry Beck will be hostess to members of her club.

TULLYTOWN

Mr. and Mrs. James Lovett, of Fallstown avenue, have received word that their son, Pvt. Joseph A. Lovett, has arrived in England.
Miss Elizabeth Lovett and Mrs.
Lewis Green were visiting in Atlantic City, N. J., on Sunday.

LANGHORNE

Mrs. H. V. Miller left for Texas last week to join her husband who is stationed there.
Mr. and Mrs. William A. Thomas have returned from a vacation in Nanticoke.
Mrs. Wilmer Girtin, of Glenside, was a luncheon guest of Mrs.
George Leitch on Thursday.
Otis Squires, who has had employment in Maryland for several months, has returned home.

Delightfully Surprise Miss Nataline Marini

A delightful surprise came to Miss Nataline Marini in the finishing room of Paterson Parchment Paper Co. at luncheon on Thursday when her co-workers tendered her a bridal shower.

After lunch everyone retired to Miss Marini's table which was colorfully decorated with a miniature bridal party. The future bride was then presented with a complete set of crystalware. She also received flowers and candy.

Accordian music brought the pleasant gathering to a close as guests offered a toast to the happiness of the bride-to-be.

HERE AND THERE IN BUCKS COUNTY TOWNS

Activities of Interest To All In The Various Communities

GLEANED BY SCRIBES

Competition for the ownership of a corn harvester which was placed on sale at the auction on the farm of the late John Buckman, Newtown, a few days ago, was so great that the names of the more than 20 bidders were placed in a hat, and lots were drawn to determine who should become the purchaser.

The sale, which was under the direction of J. Hibbs Buckman, was attended not only by representatives of the rural communities, but a large number of people from the borough attended.

Corn brought the ceiling price of $1.20 per bushel, and the demand for this was so great that 100-bushel lots were distributed among the high bidders.

Hay brought from $20 to $23 per ton, and straw sold quite readily for more than $20 per ton. This was considered a very good price.

Announce Regulations For Delivery of Coal

Notice has been issued by Bristol coal dealers that effective last Wednesday they are under strict delivery regulations imposed by the OPA for the purpose of insuring an equitable supply of coal.

In a statement made public today to anthracite users and oil consumers, the dealers say: "We must give preference to customers having one-fourth or less of their winter's supply; after that to those having less than one-half. We cannot deliver to those having one-half or more until their supply drops below that figure, and then only one delivery, so that the total on hand shall not exceed three-quarters."

If there are duplicate orders with other dealers the statement reads
"we may not make any deliveries to you at all, unless this has been your regular practice in the past, and if the total of all such orders does not exceed one-half year's supply."

"Bataan" is Saga of Heroism Under Fire

Thirteen men in a fever-infested jungle, fighting in a heroic fight to the finish stand against Japanese hordes, provide stark drama and many thrills in "Bataan," saga of heroism under fire, showing at the Grand Theatre, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

The story deals with thirteen
"expendables" assigned to blow up a bridge and fight a delaying action to cover the evacuation of the Army of Bataan. Human relationships between the men, whose assignment dooms them to certain death, provide a drama within a drama, as one by one the soldiers fall victim to bullets and malaria until Robert Taylor, the last of the gallant patrol, stands in his own grave fighting to the last.

Mrs. Katherine G. Moon Resigns Her Position

Mrs. Katherine G. Moon has resigned as Bucks county home economics supervisor to take a position as instructor in foods at the Flemington, N. J., high school. Her resignation becomes effective September 15th.

Mrs. Moon was appointed by the State extension office at the Pen-sylvania State College in March of this year to replace Miss Edna Stephany, who entered the Army to do dietetic work and received a commission as a second lieutenant.
Before coming to Bucks county,
Mrs. Moon was home economics worker in Wayne county for two years. She is a graduate of Penn State.

She will be succeeded by Miss Mary Jacoby, 517 Fairfax Road, Drexel Hill, who will report on September 15th. Miss Jacoby has been doing food preservation in New Jersey this summer.

While here Mrs. Moon conducted the 4-H Home Economics club program in which 145 girls completed projects this year.

MINISTER SPEAKS ON COMMUNITY SERVICE

Rev. George C. Lurwick Is Guest at Bensalem Rotary Club Meeting

GIVES SUGGESTIONS

ANDALUSIA, Sept. 4.—The Rev.
George C. Lurwick, pastor of Cornwells Heights and Croydon Methodist Churches, was the guest speaker at the weekly meeting of Bensalem Rotary Club, when members met in King Hall, Tuesday evening, for their weekly dinner session.

"Community Service" was the subject upon which the clergyman dwelt.
"As members of the Rotary Club there is opportunity to serve as a group much better than as an individual," he advised the club members. "There should be no selfish motive in our community activities," he continued. "We should serve because we love to serve. It is our duty as good citizens to give thoughtful study to the welfare of the community."

"There should be no duplication in service rendered a community, for such duplication is costly, and serves no purpose. Where an organization is already established

Tiny Insects Invade City of New York

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—(INS)— Manhattan's second invasion—by tiny, green insects—today hit another section of this metropolis.

Last month clouds of the aphid-like bugs descended on the lower East Side of Manhattan. Today they swarmed over the Bronx, covering windows, clothing and even the faces of strollers.

The only inhabitants pleased by the visitation were the sparrows and other birds. They practically exhausted themselves gobbling up the minute insects.

BROUGHT HERE TO ANSWER CHARGES OF FORMER WIFE

Bristol Terrace Woman
Alleges Her Ex-Husband
Attacked Her

MAY BE HEARD TODAY

Defendant Denies Charges; Says He Was Never In Bristol Before

The former husband of a Bristol Terrace woman is being held at police headquarters here on charges of his ex-wife. The man taken into custody at Weehauken, N. J., waived extradition and was brought back to Bristol yesterday
by Chief Bucks County Detective Anthony Russo and Private Theodore Jones, Penna. State Police.
A hearing may be held in the case
today.

William Sloan, alias William
Babcock, formerly of Morgantown, West Virginia, is alleged to have attacked his former wife, now Mrs.
Bertha Gladys Levkules, 2 Schu-macher Drive, Bristol Terrace.

The alleged attack is said to have occurred on August 17th or 18th, when he, according to Mrs. Lev-kules in a statement made to Detective Russo, wrapped a piece of rope around her neck and twisted it in the back, to such an extent that her neck was marked and she was rendered unconscious.

On August 18th at about 2:30
a. m. Bristol police in response to a call, which they say was in the voice of a woman, went to Beaver Dam Road and Magnolia Road, where they found Mrs. Levkules lying on the shoulder of the road, face down. She was taken to the police headquarters and her husband and a physician summoned.

WASTED BILLIONS

There ought to be considerable national curiosity about the statement of Senator Aiken of Vermont, a member of the Senate Committee on Executive Department Expenditures, who places the probable wastage in government expenditures, both war and otherwise, at $21,000,000,000 a year.

This startling figure—$200 for each man, woman and child in the United States—represents, according to the Senator, not only extravagance but shameless waste. Obviously, if an amount that large is being used inefficiently by the Federal Government, there is no valid reason why a new tax bill should have to be drafted by Congress this fall.

Senator Harry F. Byrd, chairman of the executive expenditures committee, has noted instances of considerable extravagance in the past, as have others. But never before has the estimate of wastage been placed at so high a figure.

The Vermont Senator is right in charging that the government offices are over-staffed. The best figures obtainable now place the number of Federal employees at 3,100,000, excluding the Army and Navy. With good management it ought to be possible to cut that number at least in half. The nation ran the First World War on less than a third the number of persons now on the Federal pay roll, and nobody then accused the Wilson administration of practicing economy. Granted that this is a bigger war, it is not that much bigger.

But the main point is not the salaries of all those needless pay-rollers, although their total is a nice piece of change. It should be remembered that all those persons are as busy as can be spending Treasury money for something. And most of the time it is for something that the country could do without and thereby experience no acute discomfort. If Senator Aiken can prove his $21,000,000,000 figure, Congress will have plenty of work on when it reconvenes.

BACK TO SCHOOL

Colleges have been converted in large part to the war effort, but grade and high schools are resuming this fall as usual. There are problems of teacher shortage and rising costs to be met by the administrative officials, but for the pupils it will be mostly a case of beginning where they left off when the summer vacation period began.

The boys and girls will be studying ancient and more recent history as new chapters are being hammered out by the guns of a global war. They will study geography while geography is being remade by men equipped with modern instruments of death.

Nor will youth, acquiring education in what often seems a hard way, be oblivious to all this. The young sprouts are intensely interested in the war news, in aviation, in the mechanics of modern warfare.

Has the Federal official who says that food prices have been reduced shopped in the food markets recently?

ANNOUNCE SPEAKER FOR UNION SERVICE

Richmond P. Miller To Be Speaker At Friends Meeting House

SOME OTHER SUPPLIES

Union summer service of churches of Bristol will be held Sunday evening at eight, in the Friends Meeting House, Market and Wood streets.

Richmond P. Miller, field secretary of the Friends Central Bureau of the Philadelphia Yearly Meeting of Friends, will be present.

In giving his message he will tell of the inside workings of the big gambling house, and how rookies are taken in by the big gamblers. He will expose "marked cards," "honey dice," "shell game," "bingo," "wheel games" and other methods. At present the Rev. Mr. Palmer is working with the "Pocket Testament League" as a field evangelist in the army camps. He has visited 75 army camps, and will relate some of his recent experiences with service men.

Tuesday, eight p. m., praise, prayer and Bible study. The pastor will speak on the subject, "What Saints Will Be in the Great Tribulation."

Will Unveil Plaque At Cornwells Manor

Harry L. Hughes in charge of solicitation for the plaque expenses.

The plaque is of wood, topped by a large eagle, the entire piece being enclosed by a picket fence. It is located on the grounds of Union Fire Co. station.

The program of Labor Day will be preceded by a parade which will start at 10:30 a. m., from Byberry and State Roads. The procession will move north on State Road to Chestnut street, New York avenue, Birch street, to Echo Beach, thence to the Union Co. station. The American Legion Cadet drum and bugle corps from Bristol will be in the line of march.

Speakers at the ceremony, which will get underway at 11 o'clock, will be C. Burnley White and Richard W. Fechtenburg, the latter the master of ceremonies. The Rev. Arthur F. Gibson, rector of Christ Episcopal Church, Edgington, will offer prayer; and the Rev. Fr. Nugent, of St. Charles R. C. parish, will bless the flag. Music will be provided by the cadets.

Refreshments will be served following the ceremony.

Chadbourne-Kelly Wedding Solemnized

Mr. Harry Klemm, of Philadelphia, was best man for the occasion.

The bride's gown was fashioned of white satin, cut princess style with sweetheart neck-line, long sleeves and a lengthy train. A net finger-tip veil, with face veil, was attached to a Juliet cap of net. Her slippers were white kid, and she carried gardenias.

The bridesmaid selected for the ceremony a shell pink gown, with bodice of lace, and net skirt over satin. Sleeves were three-quarter length, and the gown featured a train. Her Juliet cap was of shell pink net, and she carried blue delphinium.

Invitations were issued to 100 guests for the reception scheduled in Hibernian Hall immediately following the wedding. Mr. Chadbourne and bride will spend four days in the Pocono Mountains. For the journey the bride has selected a two-piece black dress with white trim, black and white accessories and a corsage of gardenias. They will make their home at the Kelly residence.

"Relatively Weak Resistance" Made By The Italians As Allies Advance

ported by large British naval forces, had taken place at noon on Friday. There was no immediate confirmation of the report in Allied quarters.

The German news agency also reported that the Allies had succeeded in landing "heavy" quantities of war material at Reggio and that Italian forces had retreated to the mountainous regions inland after putting up a "gallant" fight against superior opposition.

The tough, battle-hardened veterans of Gen. Montgomery's Eighth Army, heroes of the advance from El Alamein to Tunisia, were reported earlier to have established a wide bridgehead on the southern Italian mainland. At some points they were said to have penetrated to a depth of ten miles.

(The Agliers radio, summing up the "midday situation" on the Calabrian Peninsula as satisfactory, said that reinforcements are continuing to flow across the Straits of Messina in a steady stream.

"The Italian fleet has made no appearance," the broadcast said.)

More than 24 hours after Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Allied commander-in-chief, had issued a brief, dramatic 40-word communique announcing the invasion, which was supplemented only by an equally brief naval announcement, there were no new official details of the attack.

The obvious implication was that the Allies, as predicted yesterday by official spokesmen, were meeting stubborn resistance in the mountainous interior. Reports that the Germans were fleeing northward without putting up a fight were discounted, for it seems obvious that delay is the watchword of current Nazi strategy.

No light was shed on the whereabouts of the American Seventh Army, which played such an important part in the conquest of Sicily, but it seemed clear that this battle-tested outfit would soon be heard from.

(In New York, the British information service military expert, Brig. Gen. Horace Sewell, indicated that the Eighth Army's landings were merely the opening phase of a much wider invasion of the Italian mainland.)

Eyewitness accounts of the invasion sweep across the Messina Strait disclosed that numerous enemy coastal guns were knocked out by the fury of the Allied artillery bombardment long before the first troops leaped out of their invasion craft.

Just before the invasion, General Eisenhower flew to Sicily for a final checkup with British Gen. Sir Harold R. L. G. Alexander, Deputy Allied Commander-in-Chief, and Gen. Montgomery, the colorful commander of the courageous Eighth Army.

The invasion was carried out with clocklike precision, with squadrons of Allied fighters providing a magnificent protective cover for the infantry and tank units that crossed the Messina Strait under a moonless and starlit sky. Allied airmen were surprised at the complete absence of enemy opposition.

Here and There In Bucks County Towns

Twenty-five cows sold at an average of $200, and the highest price received was $280. The highest price paid for the horses was $132.

Fruit and vegetables took the lead at the combination auction held Tuesday on the property of the Rice brothers, near Solebury, and in general good prices were received for them.

Total proceeds of the sale, attended by about 2000 persons, were $4567.30, and the sale of poultry amounted to $2438.71.

Bidding on the poultry, especially the light stock, and the hogs was rather dull. There appeared to be a lack of buyers for the lighter stock of poultry, and in some instances it was impossible to receive the ceiling prices, especially for light Leghorn fowl.

Less than half the 180 hogs offered were sold because of a lack of buyers.

Isaac J. Vanartsdalen, Doylestown, a few days ago received a letter from Dr. Harold B. Allen, until recently president of National Farm School, Doylestown, and who is now on an agricultural mission in Teheran, Iran, for the government.

Before leaving, Dr. Allen had been asked by friends in Doylestown to make an attempt to contact Lewis W. P. Bailey, a former county seat resident, who for some years has been employed by a well-known firm in the vicinity of Teheran.

Arriving at his destination by plane, Dr. Allen sent Mr. Bailey, who in 1914 was graduated from Doylestown high school and several years later from State College, a note, but learned he was about 1,000 miles from the place at which Dr. Allen was staying. He contacted Mr. Bailey by letter and learned he had been transferred to India by his firm.

According to Dr. Allen, unlimited inflation prevails in Teheran, and as a result, the prices of commodities are extremely high.

Shoes, he wrote in his letter to Mr. Vanartsdalen, sell as high as $20 a pair, and ordinary cuts of meat sell for $2 per pound. The price of second hand cars ranges from $5000 upward, and a 1941 model of a well known make sold for $20,000.

An estimated $1000 worth of damage was done Saturday, when a tractor and a trailer crashed into the driveway of the Lewis service station, Doylestown. The tractor parts of both trucks were badly damaged and two of the gas pumps and two light poles were broken off.

Robert John Starke, Binghamton, N. Y., was operating the first tractor and trailer behind one of Burpee's small delivery trucks being driven by Oved Shiffriss, Doylestown. Shiffriss apparently became confused. He first attempted to make a right-hand turn and then turned the truck so that it ran into the middle of the street.

Seeing what was happening Starke swung to the left in order to avoid hitting Shiffriss, and crashed into a tractor and trailer parked in the driveway of the service station, jack-knifing the other truck, clipping off two gas pumps and two light poles, and landing where only a few seconds before, Mrs. Lewis had been putting gas into a car. The car being filled with gas had barely pulled away before the accident occurred. Starke received slight bruises, but no serious injury.

Home Nursing Classes Are Arranged For Women

Classes in home nursing and infant care will be instituted on the 13th of September at the community house on Dorrance street, continuing each Monday evening between the hours of seven and nine o'clock.

Miss Mary Bawmann, registered nurse of the Metropolitan Insurance Company, located here, will be the instructress.

Twenty women are needed for enrollment in order that the class may be started, it is stated. The class will consist of 24 to 30 hours of lectures.

It is hoped that as many as possible will sign for the instruction, as it will offer opportunities to learn much of nursing care and diet, which will be of aid to the women in their own homes as well as among their neighbors and friends.

"Wives of service men and prospective mothers should be especially interested in this course," a Red Cross representative stated today.

Those interested are asked to telephone Mrs. Walter W. Pitonka, chairman of home nursing for Bristol Branch of the Red Cross, phone Bristol 7354; or the Red Cross headquarters, Bristol 2476.

the giddy goings-on of a merry group of gals and guys who wake up a ghost town with a bang! See them tear it apart with dancing... and music... and crazy clowning in Columbia's new smash hit musical, "What's Buzzin' Cousin?", Sunday and Monday at the Bristol Theatre.

Through psychology and human kindness, some girls who are classed as incorrigible in a county reform school, are started on a new career that will give them a chance to amount to something. That is the interesting development in the P. R. C. drama, "Girls in Chains," which also opens Sunday at the Bristol Theatre. The film stars Arline Judge. She is a teacher of psychology who tries the experiment in the school, working against the bitter opposition of a crooked political administration.

RITZ THEATRE

Hedy Lamarr brings to the screen the sultry Tondelayo in a gripping screen version of the famous stage play, "White Cargo," coming Sunday to the Ritz Theatre. Teamed with Walter Pidgeon in this dynamic drama, she proves an alluring tropics heroine, wears a wrong for the first time, and the play, in its modern screen technique, takes on vivid new life. It is a story dealing with the moist, steaming tropics, where a group of white men oversee a rubber plantation.

Franklin A. C., whose winning streak of ten straight games was broken last week, will meet the Trenton ARP team tomorrow afternoon on the high school field.

The Jersey ARP nine is sponsored by Air Raid Post 11-4 and is managed by "Eddie" Minnick. The Trenton club has won 29 and lost 7 this season and its star moundsman, "Bud" Ringkamp has won twelve and lost one, "Lem" Werner will do the catching for the visitors. It is most likely that Joe Sagolla will do the pitching for the Franklin boys with Leo Johnson behind the plate.

Franklin lost its first game of the season last Sunday being beaten by the Trenton Catholic Youth Club, 8-4.

Make Temporary Changes
In the Teaching Staffs

Mrs. Edward J. Fleming, who formerly taught in the Bristol schools, will again serve as a substitute teacher in the position from which Miss Cottingham resigned last year.

Mrs. Aletha Myers Bassett, who formerly taught English in the high school, will teach English in the seventh grade at Jefferson avenue school. This vacancy was caused by Miss Appleby's request to be released to go to Berwyn. Mrs. Bassett will serve as a substitute for the duration of the war.

Mrs. Charles Utz will again serve as a substitute for the entire term teaching mathematics in the seventh grade at the Jefferson avenue building.

Mrs. Paul V. Forster will teach social studies in the high school filling the vacancy for the duration of the war caused by the absence of Ensign Viola Monaco of the WAVES.

Miss Jean Rosser, a graduate of Bristol high school and New Jersey College for Women, will fill the vacancy caused by the entrance of Miss Claire Coles in the WAC. Miss Rosser will teach English. She formerly taught at Bordentown, N. J.

Miss Dorothy V. Fisher will teach in the Commercial Department of the high school in the vacancy caused by the military leave of Philip Frankmore. Mr. Frankmore is at present in the Naval Reserves. Miss Fisher, who is a graduate of Temple University School of Commerce, substituted for a period of two months in the high school during the last school term.

Miss Mary Watson, a graduate of Bristol high school and East Stroudsburg Teachers College, will fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. Laura Ellis Henry. Miss Watson will teach the fourth grade at Jefferson avenue. Miss Annie Heritage will act as building principal in place of Mrs. Henry.

Miss Winifred S. Cooke, a graduate of Millersville State Teachers' College, will have charge of the library of Bristol high school. Miss Cooke was elected to this position at the close of last school year, but due to illness was unable to report.

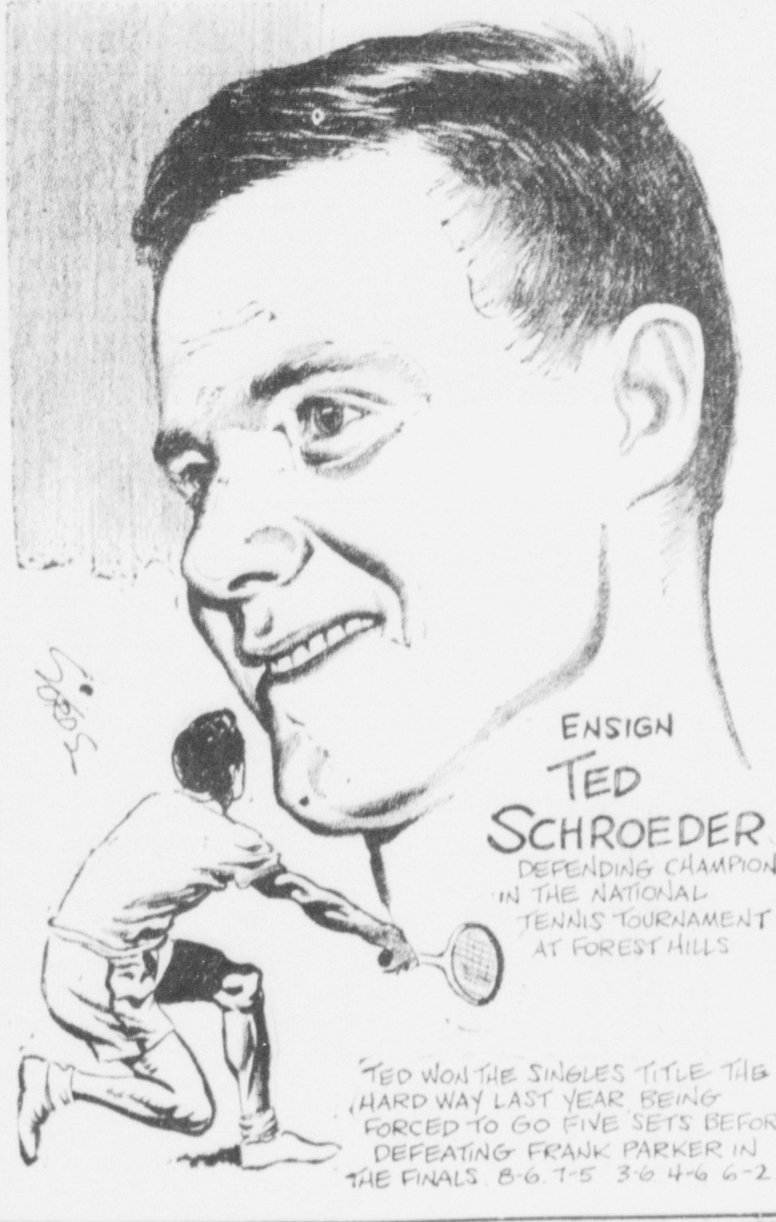

Mrs. Eleanor Brock Kozinski, who formerly taught at McVeytown, Pa., will fill the temporary vacancy caused by the military leave of Charles Quigley. Mrs. Kozinski is a graduate of the School of Music of West Chester State Teachers' College and is an accomplished singer and instrumentalist on the clarinet, saxophone, bassoon and piano.

Miss Ruby Arneson will teach art in the high school. Miss Arneson has many years of experience in public school art. She has taught at Iowa State College, Slippery Rock State Teachers College and at Kutztown State Teachers College. She has had considerable supervisory experience and has commendable personal talent as an artist. This position is being filled for the first time in ten years. It is hoped that a teacher of Miss Arneson's background and experience will return a great deal to the Bristol schools that was missed in the past in not having a course in art. Miss Arneson studied at St. Cloud College, University of California, University of Washington and holds a master's degree from Columbia University.

Carlin Brown will teach general science in the high school. Mr. Brown comes to Bristol with eight years' teaching experience, six of these years serving as principal of a consolidated school district in Plymouth Township. Mr. Brown is a graduate of Kutztown State Teachers College, Penn State and holds a master's degree from the latter.

The elementary supervisor's position, from which Miss Elva Cruse resigned to return to the classroom, will be filled by Mrs. Anne Stannert. Mrs. Stannert has had a number of years' experience as elementary school principal in Waltham, Mass., and in schools in South Jersey. She has also been a district supervisor of elementary education in Boston, Mass. During the last four years, Mrs. Stannert was instructor at the Glassboro State Teachers' College at Glassboro, N. J., where a good deal of her work was in teacher training. Mrs. Stannert was educated in the New England States and holds a master's degree from Temple University and has published several studies of her own.

DEFENDING CHAMP - - By Jack Sords

sweethearts to aid in this third war loan drive. "There isn't a 10% soldier or sailor in the world; it's a 100% job to keep the flag unfurled. Buy bonds and win, or get bombed and lose. There is only one way for us Americans to choose."

The head of the nationality committee stressed: "Remember, we are all one, regardless; all fighting for the one cause; all nationalities are fighting for you. Don't be a slacker by not being one big family. Work to get all for America."

Mrs. George W. Schock, of Doylestown, and Mrs. John Leslie Kilcoyne, Bristol Township, representing Bucks County, pledged themselves by saying: "Let's all work together, get your fingers in the pie...to go over the top we must buy, buy and buy."

After the meeting, Governor and Mrs. Martin entertained at a four o'clock tea in the executive mansion.

The leaders in the Women's Division of the war finance committee for the Third War Loan Drive are: Mrs. William S. Pence, Eastern Pennsylvania; Mrs. James K. Leowen, central Pennsylvania; Mrs. Andrew Sloane and Mrs. Clifford Heinz, chairman, and co-chairman, western Pennsylvania.

Brought Here To Answer
Charges of Former Wife

At first she did not talk to Russo but later, after being examined by the physician, and being revived, she in answer to questions of Russo related what she claimed took place.

Mrs. Levkulics, according to Russo, stated that on the afternoon of August 17th she was walking on Mill street, when her former husband called to her from a car. "Hello, Gladys," he is said to have called and then invited her to get into the car. This the woman says is the first time in nine years that she had seen him.

This was about 12:30 o'clock in the afternoon and she went for a drive in response to the invitation. According to her story the pair drove to Trenton, down the Lincoln Highway and onto the Roosevelt Boulevard and then up to the Bordentown Road, near Tullytown. It was here that Mrs. Levkulics alleges that Sloan or Babcock pleaded with her to "go back" with him and made improper advances which she repulsed. The pair then drove to the vicinity of Bristol Terrace and here the man is alleged to have again attempted to act in a disrespectful manner. It was at this point that the woman accuses her former spouse of tying a rope around her neck and twisting it until she became unconscious. She says that she was then put out of the car.

The call which the police received and which was given in the voice of a woman was to the effect that "a woman is lying along the Beaver Dam Road near Magnolia Road."

After recovering from the shock of her experience Mrs. Levkulics filed information with Detective Russo and had a warrant issued. The search for Sloan or Babcock then started. Russo sent out an eight-state broadcast and he visited a number of communities where it was thought the man wanted might be. Mrs. Levkulics and Russo visited the Garden State Race Track in an attempt to find him. Finally on information furnished by Russo the one sought was arrested at Weehauken on Thursday.

Sloan or Babcock, Russo says, denies that he ever visited Bristol and says that he was not here on the day in question and that he did not attack his former wife.

NOTICE!

TO ANTHRACITE USERS AND OIL CONVERSIONS

On and after September 1, 1943, we are under strict delivery regulations, imposed by OPA, for the purpose of insuring an equitable supply of coal.

We must give preference to customers having one-fourth or less of their winter's supply; after that, to those having less than one-half. We cannot deliver to those having one-half or more until their supply drops below that figure, and then only one delivery, so that the total on hand shall not exceed three-quarters.

If you have duplicate orders with other dealers, we may not make any deliveries to you at all, unless this has been your regular practice in the past, and if the total of all such orders does not exceed one-half year's supply. Hence, it will be desirable for you to cancel all such duplicate orders.

If you are buying coal from us for the first time, or have recently converted from oil, or are occupying new premises, please give us the facts, so that we may be able to help you. If your regular dealer has quit business, please tell us that. If you have converted from oil, and have your coal, tell your dealer.

The percentage of deliveries in every area will be increased by OPA as soon as the present emergency is relieved; your co-operation will be a patriotic service, and will assure fair treatment for every user of anthracite.
